Message from Mr. Jesrani:

About a year ago to the day, March 1, 2011, I opened the doors to my own law practice. While I have been practicing law now for several years, having my own law business is very different than just practicing law as a lawyer.

When I decided to open my law practice, I left a well paying job at another Northstate firm to follow my dream of creating my own law firm; one year later I could not be happier with my decision. That's not to say the last year has been easy.... because it hasn't been, and it's not to say I think it will get an easier, because I know that it won't. But I have enjoyed serving and representing all of my clients and I look forward to serving many more in the future. I would like to thank all of my clients for allowing me to serve you and for your support of my local law firm.

I would also like to thank my family, friends, colleagues, and countless others who have helped me through guidance, mentoring, and referrals all of which have assisted in the growth of my practice. I look forward to what the future will bring and I continue to be as committed to my clients and my practice as I was the day I opened my doors one year ago.

Thank you,
Anand "Lucky" Jesrani, Esq.
